

The logo for the Association of Independent Schools in New England (AISNE) features the word "aisne" in a lowercase, white, sans-serif font. The letters are closely spaced, with the "i" and "s" being particularly compact. The background of the logo area is a dark blue gradient with a pattern of small, light blue icons including a compass, a play button, a heart, a lightbulb, a gear, and a book.

Timeline: Researching and Selecting an Independent School

August (the year before you want your child to begin at a new school)

- Consider the type of school and location that appeals most to your family
- Begin researching schools. AISNE.org is a great resource!
- Speak with friends, family, and neighbors about schools they know well

September

- Contact your list of schools to request admissions and financial aid materials, and to schedule visits and tours (virtual or in-person).
- Make note of the key application deadlines for each school
- Register your child for any required standardized admission tests

October

- Visit open houses, attend school fairs, take tours (virtual or in-person)
- Finalize a list of schools to which your child will apply
- Register for standardized admission tests, if required

November

- Continue to visit open houses (virtual or in-person) and speak with friends, family, and neighbors.
- Check AISNE.org for community events hosted by schools of interest
- Gather teacher recommendations from your child's current school
- Start working on applications, financial aid forms, and student questionnaires

December

- Continue to check AISNE.org for open houses and school events of interest
- Request current school first semester transcripts
- Complete applications

January

- Pay close attention to deadlines during this time. Applications, test scores, references, transcripts, and financial aid forms for most schools are due in January or February.

February

- Participate in school visit days (virtual or in-person)

March

- Expect school decisions to begin arriving in mid-March
- Watch for financial aid decisions during this same time

April

- Decide which school is the right fit for your child
- Sign and return enrollment contracts and deposits

May through September

- Attend new parent and student activities (virtual or in-person) in preparation for beginning the school year at your child's new school.

Open a world of possibilities for your child.

Welcome! You've come to the right place.

The Association of Independent Schools in New England (AISNE) is a membership organization for non-profit, independent schools across New England, with associate member schools across the country. Schools within AISNE's network share and learn from one another and from respected thought leaders specializing in the disciplines of teaching and learning; diversity, equity, and inclusion; independent school governance, and more. AISNE member schools are committed to supporting one another, and to challenging themselves to learn, grow, and evolve in pursuit of delivering exceptional educational experiences.

To be a Member of AISNE, a school must be an independent, not-for-profit school with a clear mission statement and a governing board of directors, located within the states of Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, or Vermont. It also must be accredited by AISNE, or by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC). AISNE accredits schools in the states of MA, ME, NH, RI, and VT with three or more consecutive grade levels in Kindergarten through Grade 9. NEASC accredits schools in these states that include Grades 9 - 12.

This directory serves as a convenient guide to the 250+ schools in AISNE's network this 2020 - 2021 school year.

What does it mean to be an accredited school?

Accreditation is a commitment to the continuous improvement made by independent schools. Through the AISNE accreditation process, a school reviews the alignment of its mission and its practices, determines and acts upon its strategic vision, and devotes dedicated time and energy to a cycle of self-evaluation and peer-review.

AISNE Accreditation Principles:

As you peruse the schools featured in this guide, in addition to the designation Accredited by AISNE, you'll also find notations of accreditations by these widely-respected peer organizations. Each one shares AISNE's commitment to excellence in education.
